

Larry Shuman – biography:

Larry Shuman is founder of The Shuman Company, an entertainment management/production firm specializing in the development of television & film writers since 1991. His many long-time clients have gone on to become some of the highest-level writers in the industry, including Shawn Ryan, Creator of The Shield, S.W.A.T., and The Night Agent (Netflix); David Shore, Creator of House and The Good Doctor (ABC); Tim Minear, Co-Creator of 9-1-1 and 9-1-1: Lone Star (Fox); Rolin Jones, Co-Creator of Perry Mason and Interview with the Vampire (AMC); Alexi Hawley, Creator of The Rookie and The Recruit (Netflix); Randy Huggins, Creator of Black Mafia Family (BMF) (Starz); and Ben Cavell, Creator of Stephen King's The Stand and Seal Team (CBS).

The Shuman Company also has a production arm, which in recent years has had pod deals at Fox Television Studios and ABC Studios. They produced Marc Cherry's series, Devious Maids, for Lifetime (4 year run), as well as the 2015 feature film Concussion, for Sony, starring Will Smith.

Larry is also actively involved in the theater, and serves on the board of The Lark, an NYC-based non-profit play development center that provides a resource for young playwrights to nurture and develop their talents and voices.
